

City Partner David Blaeser

What inspired Vancouver City Partner David Blaeser most when he first saw Millionaire Blueprints magazine was the content-rich information found within each and every article.

“The fact that these stories about self-made millionaires have the power to inspire and propel other individuals toward achieving their own success in the industries of their choice was what impressed me most,” Blaeser says.

Blaeser resides on acreage in Millet, Alberta, Canada, with Monica, his wife of 32 years. They have four children, Darnell; Chris (married to Lisa); Chantel (married to Stephen); and Dustin. They have one grandson, Cartier David Blaeser.

Blaeser began his career in the insurance business in 1978. After five years in sales, he was named a Branch Manager for his company. Over the next five years, he carefully recruited and built up a sales force from 13 to 52 employees, thus making his branch the top seller in the company.

In 1988, Blaeser decided to venture out on his own. He and wife, Monica, started Quantum Financial Services, Inc. While the company is licensed to transact financial services in a number of business classes, it specializes in retirement planning, estate planning, and living benefits product applications. This includes providing professional advice to clients on investing in funds, real estate and insurance protection.

Blaeser’s career in the financial planning field, i.e., C.L.U. and retirement planning has now spanned 28 years. He is a qualified member of the “Million Dollar Round Table.”

Blaeser and his wife also operate a Farmer’s Market & Greenhouse on Wheels.

Blaeser’s expertise in business is a tremendous asset in the operation of Millionaire Blueprints Vancouver.
